ACAIDEMICS

LANGUAGE ARTS CHANGE OVER THE YEARS

English and Foreign Language classes at Cottage Grove have changed considerably over the years. The English classes are designed to give students more freedom in saying what's on their minds. Communications class designed and produced small movies, while Creative Writing turned out many good poets and authors. The Foreign Language classes produced new words which spiced students' little conversations all over the school; though only few knew the meanings, it did make others curious and therefore was even being taught out of the assessment at the high school.

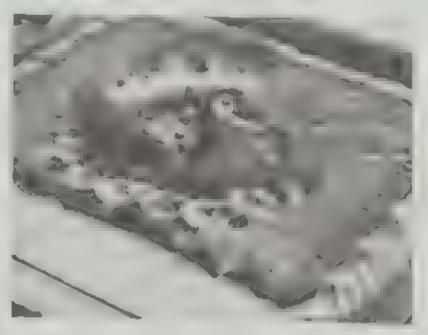

TOP: Teachers in the English Department included (TOP ROW FROM LEFT) Mrs. Sheila Soptelean, Mrs. Donna Chandler, Miss lanet Hughes; (SECOND ROW) Mrs. Karon MacDonald, Mrs. Norada Paxton, Mrs. Jean Langager; (BOTTOM ROW) Frank Long, Mrs. Julia Keizer, and Mrs. Charmaine Cates. TEACHER TAKES A LITTLE BREAK

Mrs. Sheila Soptelean had an earlier vacation than most of the teachers this year and for a pretty good reason. She gave birth to a 6 lb. 3 oz. baby girl December 12. The baby was named Michelle Marie. Mrs. Soptelean came back in January to resume her position as English and Foreign Language teacher, but plans to be a full-time mother next year, leaving only Mr. Wally Ciochetti teaching in the Foreign Language Department. Efforts were being made to maintain both her French classes and his Spanish classes.

SCIENCE PEOPLE OF DISCOVERY

If you happened to be walking by Mr. Phipps' Biology class and heard the word "hamstring" you probably wondered what was cooking. Other things besides bones and muscles were taught this year to CGHS students. The BSCS classes had sticky times dissecting frogs and injecting needles into chickens. Things weren't always stomach upsetting; you could go by Chemistry classes and see the mad scientists mixing chemicals, getting ready to blow up the school, or rapping off chemical equations that would even stun Mr. Nakadate himself. Although classes were not easy, the people seemed to enjoy themselv.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Social Studies has taken a step into the future and back to the past at Cottage Grove High. Classes from Humanities to Issues Today have been designed for students in a more leisurely atmosphere, where students and teachers communicate on the same level about current problems facing our society. Students are not afraid to voice individual opinions. Classes like World History are based on facts about men and women living or dead who have built up the world to be bigger and better. Local, County, and State Government may help a student who is interested in politics. This may also help the 18 year olds who will be voting in the coming years.

COLLEGE AND JOBS

VOCATIONAL CLASSES

Vocational classes at Cottage Grove High have prospered in the past two years to become one of the finest programs the school has. Many classes are offered that will help students in their future years with college and jobs they may accounter. Students have a choice of any of the classes almost with only few being required at one time. Most are interesting and down to earth, with the basics being taught and the rest left to the students to accomplish and gain experience.

FINE ARTS

BOUNDLESS TALENTS

SPORTS

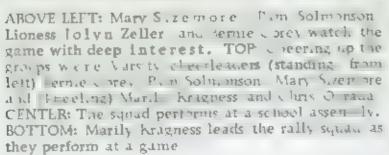

VARSITY RALLY

Cheerleading, as described by Chris Ourada and Pam Solmonson, was "a lot of fun, a lot of work, and a lot of soreness." The varsity squad this year consisted of five senior girls, Chris Ourada, Pam Solmonson, Mary Sizemore, Bernie Corev and Marily Kragness. Mary complimented the students, saying, "The school spirit this year reached an all-time high." And, to add new color to the rally squad, new uniforms were purchased. They were blue and gold pleated coulotte skirts and blue and gold sweaters. "Even though there were a lot of hassles, it was super far-out, "recollects Chris.

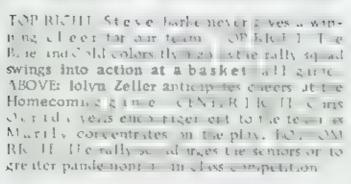

RALLY SQUADS

JV AND SOPHOMORE

"On, Oh C.G.!" was a popular yell heard from the five juniors of the JV raily squad, Judy Randall, Diane Umpleby, Becky Young, Linda Simmons and Christy Matson. "This was a super fun year," commented Judy, adding that the JV cheerleaders got along well with each other and didn't have any major problems.

Cheryl Eastburn. Milana Quigley, Marsha Coop, Colleen Henry and Debbie Cornwell made up the sophomore rally squad. Cheryl and Marsha described cheerleading as "fun, but we had a lot of problems." Sophomore tryouts were late and girls chosen had only two weeks to get organized and make uniforms before the first game. The biggest problem -- one between the Varsity and sophomore rally squads over the duties and responsibilities of cheerleaders--was resolved by a compromise. Because of this conflict, a new constitution is being drawn up for next year. Cheryl predicted, "The new constitution should help a lot."

Mary Sizemore, varsity cheerleader, said that when the problem arose over the constitution, both rally squads "learned how important rules really are," and this hassle was "an experience in humanism: a chance to get to know ourselves and the others better."

CEE GEE'S

PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT

CeeGees have generally been known as the 12 girls who provide half time entertainment at football and basketball games. But few realize the agony of kicking in the mud and being trampled by the marching band during a routine on the football field, or the mixed excitement and nervousness as the clock shows the second quarter nearing its end. This, plus slumber parties, car washes, dance clinics, candy sales, and pep assembly performances, are all a part of the feeling of belonging that exists among the CeeGees ("Heck, when you're together sixth period every day you can't help it").

The CeeGees had very few personal problems. However, one not-so-small complaint was voiced by Karen McCall: "We worked hard and did a lot to promote school spirit, but didn't get the same respect as the rally squads." This opinion seemed to be shared by all the girls, but Liz Arnold summed it all up by saving, "It was just a lot of fun and I'm glad I tried out for CeeGees."

"The team gave me scares at times, but they always seemed to come through in the final score," Coach Les Corey said of his state champion chessman. They lost one out of eighteen games and made the championship at district and state. The only team from Oregon to go to the nationals in Chicago, they returned ranked 21st of 69 teams across the country. The outstanding player was Jim Bricher with a 7 win 1 loss record at Chicago. Jim tied for 2nd, but fell to 5th in the tie-breaking procedure. Coach Corey said that the team had very few weaknesses. This year's team had the best record in ten years with a 94% average. James Bricher and Van Louie were elected for the all-district team. Most improved player Coach Corey said, was sophomore Roger Underwood. Next years returning lettermen will be. The 1972 swimming season was one of some disappointment to the hard-working Aqualions, but many fine performances were given, and there is much hope for future teams.

While the failure to win the boys' district championship -- to make it eight in a row -- was a sad moment, the girls softened the defeat by capturing their first district title.

At state, Udo Chapman placed third in the 100-yard breaststroke, and Keith Hoehn took third in the 100 yard butterfly, and seventh in the 400 yard freestyle.

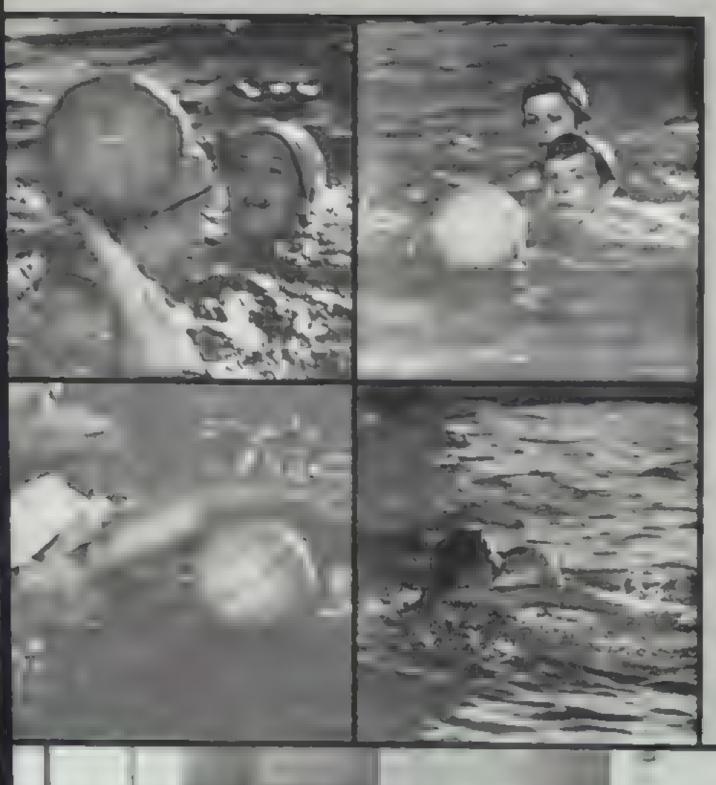

Girls qualifying were Shari Wiltse in the 100-yard butterfly (fourth), and the 100 Individual Medley (second). Lynda Wiltse swam to a fourth place 100 backstroke race, and placed eighth in the 100 Individual Medley. Jane Levings picked up a pair of seconds in the 200 and 400 yard freestyle races.

In a later season, Jane swam in the National AAU meet where she placed seventh in the 1650 and eighth in the 800 yard freestyle races. This was topped off by her being named the outstanding female AAU swimmer in Oregon.

The Aqualions face a change in 1973, as the season shifts to the winter. "It's going to be an advantage for us," stated Coach Bud Taylor.

Scott VanderKley at defensive back, and Brian Boyce at offensive lineman. The win-loss record for the 1972 football season was four wins and five losses.

Co-Captain Steve Thoreson earned the Doyle Higdon award and was also the most outstanding back. Brian Boyce was another Co-Captain and also voted most outstanding lineman.

J.V.FOOTBALL

'NEVER GAVE UP'

Like the Varsity football team, the Junior Varsity set no new records this year. There were no individual honors either. But in Coach Bob Barrett's mind the team learned greatly and will benefit from this year's season next year. Coach Barrett also added that the Junior Varsity players lacked bench strength and therefore suffered physical fatigue.

"The kids never gave up," said Barrett,
"and were good competition in every game."

Willis New won the "Most Valuable Player" award, with Tom Lundy and Joe Barrett most improved players. Most aggressive were Dave Gilham and Kevin Duncan.

BASKETBALL FOUR RECORDS FALL

This year's basketball team was faced with a preseason tragedy by the loss of senior Dave Main who lost his life in an automobile accident. Coach Jordan, when asked to comment on this year's 3-19 season called it a learning experience for all of those concerned.

There were four individual records broken during the season by Dale Kast and Scott Vander-Kley. Three records -- rebounds in one season (old 149, new 168), most freethrows made in one game (old 12, new 13) and most blocked shots in one season (new record, 45)--were all attributed to junior center Dale Kast. Scott broke the single game scoring record (old 28, new 30).

Scott VanderKley was voted 3rd team all district by the league's coaches. He was also elected by his teammates as the team's most valuable player. Dale Kast was chosen by his teammates as most inspirational player and team captain.

Seven players received their varsity letters. action They are Larry Smith, Willis New, Tom Abbott, Dale Kast (2nd year), Neil Duerst, Randy Osban, and Scott VanderKley, (2nd year).

Coach Jordan spoke optimistically about next year's prospects, "It just depends on how bad they want it" he asserted, referring to next year's basketball team.

PLAYING EXPERIENCE

This year's sophomore basketball team, coached by Mr. Clive MacDonald, finished the season with a record of 1-21. BOYS, GIRLS GYMNASTICS

The boys' gymnastics team, tutored by Ron Bush of the University of Oregon, lost every game this year. The six-man team consisted of two sophomores, Dave Eckstine and Ed Goggin, who showed potential this year, and juniors Steve Barkemeyer, Dave Olson and Paul Eckstine, who showed promise, according to Coach Jerry Braunberger. The only senior this year was Jerry Bush who placed eleventh in state in rings, was voted most inspirational and most outstanding gymnast, and also received the Mark Eckstine Memorial Award.

Returning lettermen next year will be Paul Eckstine, Steve Barkemeyer, Dave Olson and Ed Goggins.

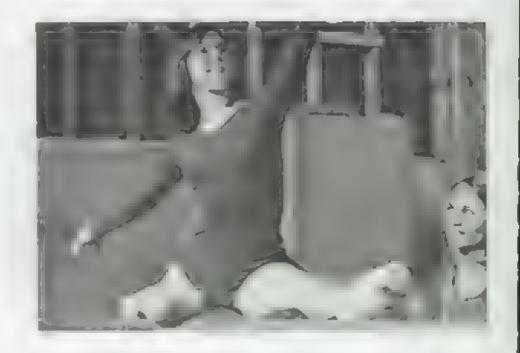

With a team composed mainly of sophomores, girls' coach Sue Laing saw new hope for a team that has not had a coach for several years. Veteran Anne Sannes was the only returning letterman. Next year's team will be more experienced. "Our sophomores came along very well," commented Coach Laing, "especially Marilyn Pitcher, Kris Sannes, Alice Rhodes and Paula Solmonson."

Named most inspirational teammate was Alice Rhodes, while Kris Sannes was cited as the most valuable.

"The tennis team is the second strongest we have had during nine years of tennis at Cottage Grove," commented Coach Jan Neely. They won 8, tied one, and lost six. Annie Sannes moved into quarter finals in district singles play.

Playing singles competition were Annie Sannes (first rank), Cecilia Cadena (second), and Jana Wolf (third), Playing doubles were Shirley Nowak and Darla Cooley (first rank), Nanci Bauder and Lynette Zuercher (second), and Lisa Farmen and Sally Woolcott (third).

Coach Neely said, "The weakness of the team was lack of depth. Next year if we have depth at the lower end of the ladder, we should be strong. It depends on how much improvement is made between now and next season. The seven returning varsity lettermen next year will be Cooley, Zuercher, Woolcott, Farmen, Wolf, Simmons and Randall.

GOLF TEAM SWINGS HIGH AND LOW

With five young lettermen scheduled to return next year, Coach Clive MacDonald said of his golf team, "We built a nucleus of an extremely strong team." Returning lettermen will be junior Todd Thomas, sophomore Doug Hixson, and freshmen Dave Hixson, Scott Martin and Steve Yoss.

"With only two returning lettermen this year, the team did exceptionally well, tying for third place at district and defeating district champs, Sheldon, in the last match," commented Doug Hixson. The team won two of the season's five four-way matches.

Rounding out the 14-man team were senior Dave Buffington, juniors Jeff Heath and Randy Westfall, sophomores Terry Huffman, Ray Chambers and Matt Rich, and freshmen Perry Solmonson, Russ Thomas and Tim Fisher.

BASEBALL JV AND VARSITY

After a poor start, the Lion's varsity baseball team finished strongly under first year head coach Del Jordon. The Lions won six of their final nine games to finish in a tie for 3rd in the league. This made the 4th season in a row the Lions have finished in the upper division.

Standouts included Marvin Cook, Dan Boustead, Doug Wicks, all seniors, and Harry Smith, a junior. Smith finished the year with a .439 batting average and a 5-0 record as a pitcher in league play. Coach Jordon feels the Lions will have a solid nucleus for next season.

BIG HELP

BASEBALL KNOW-HOW

A five-win, nine-loss record was recorded by the J. V. Baseball team, coached by Bob Barrett. The '73 season produced some fine prospects and valuable experience for the upcoming year. Standouts included Scott Bottorff who played standout ball as a catcher and Dave Hale who played left field and was a relief pitcher. Throughout the year hard work resulted in better hitting and base running but also showed a weakness in the field. Coach Barrett said that a large improvement was made in baseball knowhow, basic fundamentals, and knowing where to go in different situations. These boys promise to be a big help on varsity in the upcoming season.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL

In summing up Executive Council's year, words like "change" and "progress" and "hard work" are not enough. Their leadership caused a reversal in student gov't that over the past few years had deteriorated.

Old traditions were revitalized, with the prime example being Homecoming. Regular meetings of the ASB officers and class presidents began in late July continuing until school started. Daily 8 a.m. meetings were routine in the fall. A necessary discomfort if their excitement and enthusiasm was to spread to the student body.

Though finding limited opposition in election, a greater group of officers could not have been found anywhere. Each was a fine leader with something valuable to contribute to the whole. Jean Randall's articulate wit, Joan Erwin's remarkable talent for organizing thoughts on paper, the devoted work in and out of the student office by Cheryl Shipp and her assistant Van Louie and the beautiful bulletin boards created by Cindy Lowe. Also, the class presidents should not be forgotten. Sue Shearer, "the great compromiser", Mark Williams, and Leona Ireland added a great deal to the diversity of the group. With the overall leadership of our concerned ASB president Lancy Hill, the year was a definite success.

DANCES

IN THE RED

Due to lack of attendance, cost of bands, and money spent for police protection, this year's rally dances were not profitable and the student body went into debt $217. There were 5 rally dances in the 1972-1973 year. "Last year's dances were more profitable," compared [ean Randall, ASB Vice-President. "I think the problem this year was lack of advertisement.

A NEW HOMECOMING '72

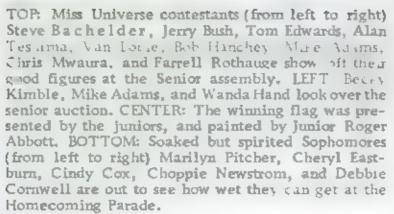

NEW ACTIVITIES . NEW IDEAS NEW PROBLEMS

The 1972 Lion Tracks announced the end of an era of homecoming tradition, and this year's homecoming indeed began new activities, new ideas, and new problems. A point system was devised to determine the winning class, as sophomores, juniors, and seniors matched wits to raise money and spirit, thereby accumulating points. Presentation of the class princesses on Friday, October 27, roused enthusiasm for the next week of fund raising. Sophomores sponsored such activities as a dime a dip dinner, car washes, and slave sales. Junior projects included a car bash, roller skating, and a light bulb sale. A radio auction, garbage drive, and bake sales raised money for the seniors. All three classes worked on the magazine sale and a penny drive. After fund raising the sophomores led the contest. But the seniors pulled through during spirit week to sponsor the assembly, which presented the loveliest senior boys in a beauty contest. Although the JUNIORS won the class flag competition, they could not command enough points to threaten the other classes. Thus, AFTER two weeks of spirited competition the senior princess, representing the winning class, was crowned queen of homecoming, an era of new traditions began.

PRINT-N-JEAN

Pieces of April was the theme chosen for this year's Print-n-Jean by the class of 75. The sophomore class outlined the week's activities with the Hat and Tie day on Tuesday, School Colors Day Wednesday, Favorite Character Day on Thursday, and Friday Dress-Alike Day. The Musti Brothers Band started the girl-ask-guy dance at 8 p.m. and played through 11 p.m.

Sophomore advisor Mr. Les Corey commented, "The kids involved with it closely really did an excellent job." He continued to say that the kids this year assumed more responsibility than in previous years, which he thought was pretty neat.

PROM '73

The theme of this year's prom, "Precious and Few" emphasized the fleeting nature of high school days.

Held at the Country Squire Inn, this special event of the year gave juniors, seniors and their guests an opportunity to dance to the music of Friends and Neighbors, reminisce about shared school years and look ahead to the partings that must soon occur.

FALL PLAY—ROOM 222

"Room 222" was a three night sellout. But because of snow the demanded fourth night had to be canceled. Mrs. Jean Langager, director, credited the success to the dedicated cast and crew.

The play centered around Alice Johnson played by Milana Quigley, a student teacher out to solve all the problems of the school at once, while Principal Sarah Kaufman, played by Susan Rice acts as referee to the school's pandemonium.

Rounding out the cast were Nanci

ONE-ACTS

ABSURD CONSEQUENCES

With the diversity of comedy, drama and absurd, this year's "Festival of One Acts" was a success. Presented in the round, a full house enjoyed the endeavors of the Dramatics class. "This Way To Heaven" depicted an angel on an earthly mission, assigned to take an elderly woman back to heaven to cook. This play was followed by a reversal in mood in the form of "Day to Day," the story of a lower middle-class family and their drug addict daughter. Brad Chambers repeatedly stated, "I Married Irene because she had eves like Abraham Lincoln". This was also the title of the play. It was about a Civil War buff and his shy embarrassed wife. Trying to get his mind off wars, the local partyparty woman came to the rescue, with absurd consequences.

BEAR WITNESS

The second major production of new drama coach Jean Langager was a fantastic success from the standpoint of set construction, costuming, and outstanding personal performances, though it was viewed by disappointingly small audiences. As one actor put it, "It was a lot of hard work for such a small turnout, but drama is its own reward: I loved every minute of it!"

Jean Langager has raised drama to the high level of quality it needs to attract new talent and encourage prideful work.

The play has the classic theme of a family torn by conflicting ideals and ironic circumstance. The lead characters, mother and daughter-in-law, are both fighting to keep their household safe from gangland hoods. Their conflict was due to the mother's bitter memories of letting yourself "get involved". The author's resolution of the plot makes for an intriguing play.

That total staff obviously has the right to be proud of the production of "Bear Witness."

PEOPLE

"A GREAT YEAR"

Sophomores seemed to adjust to surroundings of Cottage Grove High School well, even though a few misunderstandings came about, which were quickly settled with the help of the upper classmen.

Class of '75 started off the year by electing Jana Wolf as Homecoming princess and came in third in the "Mad" homecoming race CGHS has each year.

The Sophomores chose "Pieces of April" to be Print and Jean theme and made the week successful with different types of activities the students could be involved in.

When asking some sophomore students how they felt the year went, they seemed to sum it up by saying "GREAT".

SENIORS

The class of 73' started the year with a switch to female dominance with Senior class officers all being female, a first for CGHS.

Seniors became victorious during this year's homecoming which brought back the tradition of fund raising although the competition was run on a points basis.

After Homecoming, Graduation was the main goal for the seniors, extensive research showed the class of 73 had a better overall grade point average than the class before them and had 23 honor students in the graduating class. The three exchange students also graduated with the Class of 73.

Graduation took on a new look this year as the traditional "cut and dried" tone of commencement was shattered when the CGHS Stage Band performed a difficult modern jazz number featuring a shifting time signature and solos by three of the 13 graduating members of the ensemble. The stage band placed among the top in the Reno Jazz Festival in March of 73.

Following graduation a parent-student organized senior party was held.

CLUBS

A NEW ADVISOR INSPIRES.

Another chapter in the trend of revitalized clubs is the story of local Troupe 686 of the International Thespian Society.

A new adviser and enthused officers made the difference. Fresh and bright, Jean Langager seemed to inspire everyone around her. Determined to make Thespians a prestigious organization once more, old traditions, like a formal initiation in conjunction with a banquet and installation, were revived.

To become a Thespian requires a hundred hours of "excellent work". This is difficult to accumulate in a single year, making membership quite an honor.

Talent and hard work are the precepts which the society is based upon. There was certainly no lack of either this past year. There is much pride in having organizations on the upswing rather than on the path of deterioration.

BAND AND CHOIR

Motivation was the key to the successful activities of this year's music department. There were jobs to be done, and the kids came through to do them.

This year's stage band obtained new heights as the first group from CGHS to attend the Reno jazz Festival, and to be rated among the top. The concert band raised the money necessary to go to San Francisco on tour. Although some difficulties occurred, the students had a profitable and enjoyable time.

The choir performed at many functions throughout the year. They made several appearances at the annual events in Cottage Grove, and added an Easter Sunrise Service to their contribution to the community.

The man who provided the motivation was Mr. Caleb Standafer. He challenged his students with difficult music, and was always willing to offer his time to help them. He not only shared his knowledge of music, but also his spirit, and time. Caleb Standafer is truly a man dedicated to his students and music.

BOOK CLUB

"The Book Club was one of the most active clubs in school," pointed out advisor Mrs. Pat Freeman. Members manned concessions at school events to finance some of their activities, joined the Boys' Service Club in a swimming party, and traveled to the University of Oregon Library in Eugene to tour the back rooms and meet the people who keep a large library running smoothly. Members also performed chores in the CGHS Library. "They helped me a lot in the library, helping select books, preparing paperbacks for the shelves and things like that," commented Mrs. Freeman.

ECOLOGY CLUB HONOR SOCIETY

Helping to save our environment were the members of the Ecology Club. During the entire year, members collected recyclable paper from B. R. I. N. G. boxes each week. They also helped at B. R. I. N. G. headquarters organizing material brought in to be recycled. Advisors for the Ecology Club are Mr. Chuck Canfeild and Mrs. Karen Larson.

Almost fifty members made up the Honor Society this year, with officers as follows: President, Pete Kingzett; Secretary, Joan Erwin; and Treasurer, Mary Sizemore. The main activity of the year included going to the District Meet in Salem in April. Members also operated concessions at the football games, and held a tapping ceremony, in which thirty-five new members were each given a carnation. At the end of the year two scholarships were awarded, one to Van Louie, the other to Mary Sizemore. The club was a success.

Sue Berg, advisor of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) said the club was a real success. Joan Erwin placed third at the state Senior Secretarial Skills Contest. In the district #2 Skills contest, Joan won a third in senior stenography. Others from CGHS came away from the same contest with the following honors: Junior stenography—Teresa Shipp, third; Jan Apland, 4th; Janaan Winters, 5th; junior accounting—Sue Campbell, 4th; junior clerk typist—Bonnie Cook, 5th. QUILL & SCROLL

Half a dozen charter members founded a local chapter of Quill and Scroll, the honorary journalism society, in the Fall of 1972. The major event of the year was the first annual Fall Publications Awards Banquet at which outstanding performance on the publications was recognized.

Members must maintain high scholastic standing and, in the judgment of the advisor, make a significant contribution to the publications.

The officers were Sue Rice, president; Jean Randall, vice president; Carol Wicks, secretary; and Beth Flannery, treasurer. Kathy Beeman was banquet chairman. Junior Dale Farnsworth was the sixth member.

FFA

LOTS OF POPCORN

A traditionally active club, the Future Farmers of America saw its membership lag as the year went by. Although the club entered only one regional contest during the year, members were busy selling popcorn and cold drinks at every home football and basketball game. and at the Western Livestock Exposition this summer. President Farrel Rothauge was assisted by his brother, vicepresident Fredy and reporter Dan Lansing. Mr. Bob Buscher took over as advisor at midvear after Mr. Larry Galper resigned. Now president, Fredy predicted the FFA would be running well by the end of the first quarter.

HOMEMAKERS

GETTING TOGETHER

Attending the state FHA conference at OSU in April was the climax of the year for the Future Homemakers of America. Some other events included attending the District meeting in October, selling greeting cards, and preparing and serving the refreshments for the Junior-Senior Prom.

According to the advisor, Mrs. Lois Christian, though, the highlights of the year included the club's getting together with the North Douglas Chapter to plan activities for the next year, and a trip to Port Orford for beachcombing and other such activities.

President of the club for the 1973-74 year will be Fay Turner.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

This was the first year for the International Club and maybe its last. Several hundred dollars had to be raised to pay American Field Service, which arranges the exchange student program.

From three continents there have been exchange students: Tup Pattison from Australia, Chris Mwaura from Africa, Pat Meduna from Chile, and Raimundo Maranhao from Brazil, all bringing their thoughts, cultures and new ideas.

Along with problems of raising enough money for the AFS exchange program, the club lost the talents of its advisor, Miss Janet Hughes, who resigned for health reasons. If not enough money is raised to pay AFS, the club will cease to exist, Miss Hughes said.

Bible Club works closely with Young Life and also with church Youth groups.

Activities this year included a swim party, Christmas caroling, and Friday afternoon visits to the Geriatrics Ward at the hospital.

Officers for the year were President Ramona Tuller, Vice-President Elaine Hext, and Secretary Diane Morey.

LIONS' ROAR STAFF

The Lions' Roar chalked up two more semesters rated as a "First Class newspaper by the National Scholastic Press Association. Edited by Sue Rice and Jean Randall, the staff started the year by issuing a "blueprint for action." The final issue noted that some goals had been achieved, while others had not. Two unfinished items were the proposal for student representation on the school board, and provision for a "social area."

Staff members not only issued the paper, but also attended the Oregon Scholastic Press Association conference at the University of Oregon; the National Scholastic Press Association conference in Portland (where Mona McCov won a first place trophy in photography); and a workshop-contest session at Mt. Hood Community College (where Becky Fowler won a first place in Feature Writing and Lindi Stewert won third and fifth places in photography.)

"This staff has upheld high standards and helped lay the groundwork for the future," advisor Frank Long commented.

GRADUATION

GRADUATION '73

Post-commencement festivities were in the minds of graduating seniors, as they progressed smoothly through graduation practice [une 1.

Awards night Friday June 1 brought many disgusted senior girls back to the gym to exchange ... was, after it was realized they had been issued gowns from the wrong school.

Department Awards, Vocational Awards, and local and state scholars ips were announced that night.

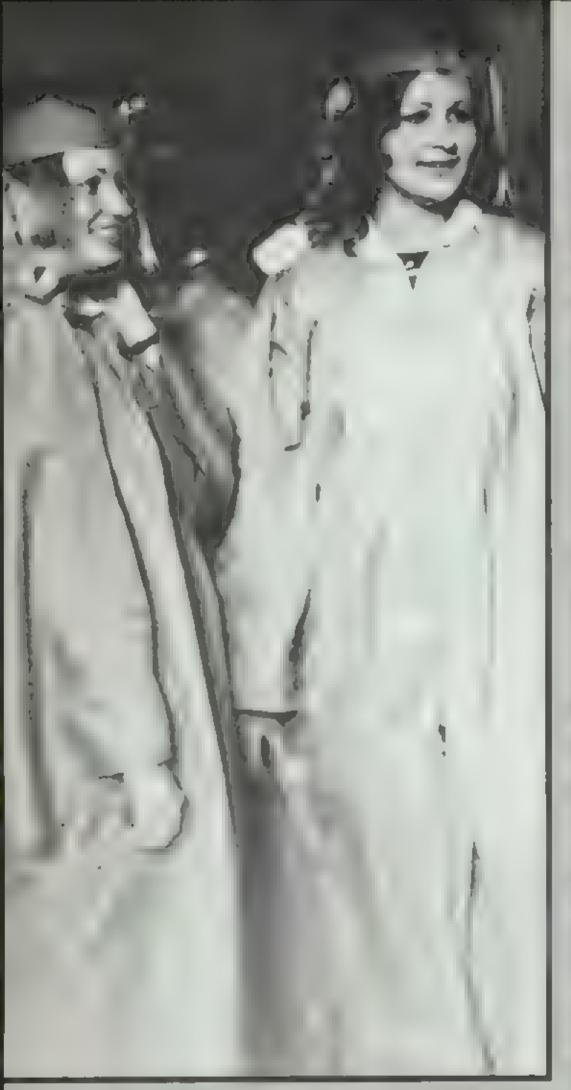

"To Everything There is a Season" and "Quo Vadis" (where are you going?), were the subjects class speakers Susan Shearer and Diane Wilson spoke on at commencement exercises, June 3. We fade, we win and we lose.
We seek things that don't exist and we wonder when they aren't there.
We try to prove things to ourselves and others, through work, and love and joy And when time says "enough" in its cruel and heartless way, we graduate.
